I'm a freelance video editor based in Auckland, NZ. Working across TV commercials, online video, short films and TV series, I have over 4 years of editing experience. Through my work I have become extremely skilled in the facets of post production work flow and working under pressure. I know how critical it is to always deliver to time and to brief, and the attention to detail that must be applied to each job. I love telling stories through editing, whether that be with footage or graphics and design. Please see my website for more information & for my showreel.
